DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10-3-2007 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

Claims 25-31 are withdrawn (canceled?) from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 1-25-2008 but appears to have canceled the non-elected claims since the amendment cancels all text associated with the claims and merely has "(withdrawn)" in their place.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-3, 5, 9-11, 13-14, 17-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Miller 6,620,094.

Miller teaches a system that enhances the performance of an implantable hearing aid which may be an electrical stimulator (column 1, lines 35-40). With respect to figure 3, the examiner considers the input devices to comprise omnidirectional microphone 312, acoustic source 107, wireless (directional microphone 304) and wireless source 305 (telecoil). A second processor in the form of a speech processor is shown at 311. Interface system 301 may contain its own circuitry and software to provide input source selection by masking out various sources and thus selecting the strongest input mode and extracting out the best signal fed into the processor. See column 6 line 50 to column 7 line 24. The examiner considers this embodiment to constitute an automatic switching of sources. In addition, user selected switching may be used. Applicant provides no details as to their means for switching and thus the examiner considers such to be inherent to Miller or at least obvious. Both processors are depicted as housed in the same case 306 as well as omnidirection microphone with input devices 108, 313 and 305 in another case. Regarding claims 21 and 23, one can pick and select components within the first processor unit such as the input lines and consider them part of the second processor with the remaining circuitry as part of the second processor. The limitation merely provides for labeling components any way you wish. For claim 24, embodiment 5 shows a volume control (eg. amplification device positioned after the mode selection circuit. To have included amplification as part of the second processor is inherent or otherwise obvious. To have placed the signal processors on the same chip would have been obvious.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4, 6-8, 12, 15-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miller 6,620,094 alone or in view of Griffith et al. USPN 6,842,647.

To have placed the signal processors on the same chip would have been obvious to ease manufacturing. Providing impedance matching between interface system 301 of Miller and the speech processor would be a notoriously old and well know to prevent unwanted reflections. Alternatively, to have modified Miller so as to provide an implanted speech processor within implantable portion 306 of Miller and provided an impedance matching circuit between the interface unit and the implant device would have been an obvious improvement as a well known alternative demonstrated by Griffith et al USPN 6,842,647.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
